PROF. GARNER'S LECTURE.

An Account of His Efforts to Study Monkey Language.

Prof. R. L. Garner last night at the Academy of Music delivered an interesting and instructive lecture descriptive of his efforts to study the language of monkeys and some of the results he hoped to secure from his study. It is to be regretted that a larger number of persons did not avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Prof. Garner.

Prof. P. P. Claxton, of the State Normal, in a neat little speech relative to the speaker's work and labor in the interest of science, introduced Prof. Garner.

The speaker began by saying he had found much incredulity among the people in regard to the speech of monkeys and a tendency to sneer at all efforts to study the subject. It is not at all improbable, he said, as speech is any oral sound that is made with the pre-conceived purpose of conveying an idea from the speaker to his hearer. That monkeys possess this pre-conceived purpose is proven by the fact that they are perfectly competent and able to follow a cause to its effect and he has known them to produce a cause, not in mere imitation of man, but to secure the effect they know will follow. Why should not a monkey talk? He and man live and die under the same conditions, have the same faculties, similar habits and having these in common, why should the monkey be deprived of speech?

Prof. Garner gave an account of his experiments with the phonograph in recording human and monkey voice. By retarding and accelerating the revolutions of the wax cylinders he was able to make the two different voices so nearly alike they easily fooled the most noted linguists of the world. He first began the study in Cincinnati and carried records of the monkeys' "talk" to the principal zoological gardens of America and noticed the effect of what a monkey in Chicago said would have upon a monkey of similar species in New York. In two years he collected and determined the meaning of nine monkey "words." His knowledge of their meaning was so accurate that he could foretell the effect they would produce. This convinced him that some language existed and he determined to go to Africa where he could more successfully study the languages and habits of the monkey.

He secured a wire cage and necessary equipment and with these settled in the heart of the African jungle. His retreat he named "Fort Gorilla." For two years he remained at the fort with only a chimpanzee, named "Moses," for a companion. Moses was a very intelligent "boy" and learned to pronounce three or four words of the human language. Moses may be considered the leader of his race for he is the only monkey in the world who has signed his name to a document.

During his stay he saw twenty-two gorillas and seven chimpanzees and secured the record of about ten words and their meaning. He learned much of the habits and life of the gorilla, more than had previously been learned regarding these animals.

The perils he encountered, the dangers he met, the terrible storms he was subjected to, surrounded by wild beasts and snakes in his lonely fort, all prove that Prof. Garner holds no sacrifice too great in his search for truth. Prof. Garner now expects to return to Africa before October and will spend three years in educating a colony of chimpanzees. He does not intend to return to civilization until he has his colony sufficiently educated to converse with human beings.

PRESIDENT SIGNED TODAY.

And The Ultimatum Sent to The Spanish Government.

POLO RECEIVES HIS PASSPORTS.

Every Command of Regulars Started South—The House Considering The Volunteer Bill.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM

Washington, April 20—The ultimatum quotes the resolutions of congress and notifies Spain that her army must leave Cuba and Cuban waters immediately. If Spain does not reply and notify McKinley by Saturday noon of her intentions to withdraw the troops, hostilities will commence. The fleet at Key West will blockade Cuba and the army that is now mobilizing at four points in the South will, with the aid of a large force of volunteers be sent to invade the Island. Premier Sagasta's speech last night deprived the president of the last hope that there might be peace with honor. Spain will not make any concessions looking to an avoidance of war. The ultimatum was prepared by Secretary Day, who went over it with the president before he affixed his signature to it. Secretary Day said: "The ultimatum has been transmitted to Madrid addressed to Minister Woodford, who will deliver it to the Spanish government."

POLO ASKS FOR PASSPORTS.

Washington, April 20—The ultimatum gives Spain until Saturday noon for her reply. Minister Woodford bids good bye to the Diplomatic body. Senator Polo y Bernabe asked for his passports when the ultimatum was shown to him.

POLO LEAVES TODAY.

Washington, April 20—Senator Polo y Bernabe leaves this afternoon. Minister Woodford has now decided to remain in Madrid until he is dismissed. He has been instructed to demand passports if Premier Sagasta's reply is unfavorable.

VOLUNTEER BILL CONSIDERED.

Washington, April 20—In the house, Hull, of Iowa, asked that the volunteer bill be called up for immediate consideration. No objection was made and so the house has gone into a committee of the whole to take up the bill.

ULTIMATUM SENT TO SPAIN.

Washington, April 20—Bulletin—The president signed the ultimatum to Spain immediately after signing the joint resolutions. At 11:24 the ultimatum was sent to Spain. At 11:35 it is reported that the ultimatum reached Spain.

POLO READY TO LEAVE.

Washington, April 20—Senator Polo y Bernabe, the Spanish minister, today transferred to the French embassy all of his official records and effects, which he cannot take with him. Secretary Alger announced this morning that every command of the regulars had started south. Many of them, having but a short run, have already arrived.

CABINET PRESENT.

Washington, April 20—All the members of the cabinet were present at the signing of the war resolutions ordering Spain out of Cuba. An ordinary pen was used and each name signed in a firm, bold hand. The pen was given to Alger as a souvenir.

The naval officers favor taking Cuba by land forces and to the employment of batteries to blockade the harbor.

Something New.

The bicycle drill Thursday night will be the first thing of the kind ever seen in Greensboro. I have had the pleasure of witnessing two or three of the practice drills and I can assure the public that they will be fully repaid for the trouble if they attend the drill tomorrow night. The figures are well gotten up and with one or two practices under the management of the captain—Miss Stewart, the drilling will be made perfect.

I hope the participants in the drill will be greeted by a full house. All wheelmen certainly ought to be present.

A Bicycle Rider.

Close Tomorrow Night.

The registration books for the coming election will close tomorrow night (Thursday). If you have not registered and want to vote in this election you had better attend to it at once as the time is short.

Friday night the play entitled "The Deacon" will be given in the athletic hall at Thomasville. The Deacon is a comedy drama in five acts, and consists of six ladies and six gentlemen, of Lexington. It abounds in human incidents and ludicrous situations. We predict for this excellent play a large audience and there will doubtless a large attendance from this city, Trinity and surrounding vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Payne gave a reception at their home on Washington street last night to a few of their friends. Many games were participated in, the most enjoyable being the peanut hunt, in which Ben Best won the first prize and Alvin Parker the booby.

SAGASTA WAXES WARM.

Makes a Rousing Speech and is Viciously Applauded.

London, April 19—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail telegraphs that Sagasta today assembled the ministerial majorities of the Cortes in the Senate, which was crowded. He made a speech in which he declared he did not intend to declare a political parliamentary programme. He added:

"Acts, not words, are required to crown all they have tried to throw against us most infamous calumny, which fills all Spaniards with holiest indignation against the villainy of those who try to take away from us our indisputable sovereign rights over a cherished piece of Spanish territory. We make an appeal to all sons of Spain to answer properly and repel with all national might this most odious outrage, the like of which has never been seen in history.

Our resolution continues to be to give no provocation, but we are also resolved not to yield in anything touching the national honor or the integrity of Spanish territory, because we admit no negotiations in questions of honor, and we do not make traffic of shame. We prefer to ruin ourselves and to be abandoned by all rather than do that. The first steps of the Cortes, about to be inaugurated, will be towards supplying the government with all the means and resources required under the circumstances."

His speech was received with frantic applause. Deep emotion was produced by some of Sagasta's words, and tears were seen in the eyes of many old Senators.

Constable Kills a Negro.

Yesterday James Breame, colored, was killed by James M. Coble, constable of Greene township. Mr. Coble attempted to serve a warrant for forgery on Breame, who resisted and attacked the constable with a shoe knife. In self defense Mr. Coble drew his revolver and shot the negro, who lived about one hour. This morning Mr. Coble came to town and gave himself up to Sheriff Hoskins and will be tried tomorrow before a magistrate. This will result in his being bound over to the Superior court.

Assignment in High Point.

P. D. Satchwell, who has been acting as temporary receiver for J. R. Flagg's drug business in High Point, returned home today. We are informed that Mr. Flagg made an assignment this morning immediately after the business turned over to him.

Spurgeon's Church Burned.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, April 20—Spurgeon's tabernacle, the most famous dissenting church building in England, was burned this morning.

"The Boarding School."

At the Normal College on Friday night the above highly amusing farce-comedy will be given by the members of the two literary societies, this being the 7th and last entertainment of the course. The play will be interspersed with songs, recitations, choruses, drills, etc., and will be wholly enjoyable. The play has been altered to suit the present crisis between Spain and America, and will contain some imaginary scenes from the war, presenting, however, only the pleasant side of soldier life—their amusements and pastimes. Admission 50 cents to those not holding course tickets.

Pass Here This Evening.

About sixty cars of troops and equipment will pass here this evening going south. The exact time is not known—the railroad people won't tell, but it is thought they will begin to pass about 7:30 o'clock.

A Beautiful Line.

The spring colors in dress goods are unusually bright and attractive. Dropping in at D. Bendheim & Sons, where they are just opening and unpacking we were struck with the specially beautiful line they are arranging for their opening, which will be announced in a day or two.

Want The News?

A citizen of Greensboro called up another citizen over the phone this morning and asked to have the war headlines of the Charlotte Observer read to him. And this, too, in a town which has a daily paper which gives the telegraphic news at 25 cents a month.

A Stiff Game Expected.

A note from our correspondent at Whitsett today says: "The Whitsett boys will meet their rivals in Greensboro on next Friday and a good game is expected. Both teams are in good practice and a stiff game is promised."

The game will be called at 3:30 and it is hoped a large attendance will greet the players.

An Erroneous Report.

An erroneous report was circulated here last evening that the president had signed the resolutions. As usual the Telegram gave the correct news by bulletin, which was that the resolutions would be signed today. This was done today at 11:24 this morning and the ultimatum was immediately sent to Spain.

BATTLE GROUND CELEBRATION.

Judge Robert M. Douglas Will be the Orator of the Occasion.

The committee appointed by the Battle Ground company to select an orator for the 4th of July celebration unanimously chose Hon. Robert M. Douglas, Associate Justice of the Supreme court of North Carolina, a most accomplished and literary gentleman, who will no doubt give us an address on some North Carolina subject, worthy of the occasion. The committee will communicate with the judge at once.

Messrs. Beville, Ellington and J. A. Odell, as a committee to raise funds for the occasion, also met and agreed upon a plan. Energetic sub-committee will be appointed to wait upon the citizens and solicit contributions. The Battle Ground company, and especially its president, is very anxious to make the celebration this year a great success and will spare no energy to make it so.

Hon. James E. Boyd an ardent member of the company, has promised to bring down some of the celebrities of Washington with him. Vice-President Hobart will be especially important to honor us with his presence.

SPRING WEATHER

Weakens The Eyes.

There is no time of the year when the eyes need to be more carefully protected and assisted than this time through which we are now passing. The system is undergoing a change and the oppressively hot weather is debilitating. In this weakened condition our delicate optic organs have to stand the glare of the bright summer sun and unless the utmost care is exercised they may be permanently injured. If they are troubling you better consult at once the only Eye Specialist in this vicinity.

The torpedo boat Somers seems to be needlessly bellicose. Its latest manifestation was to stick itself in a pier head and break itself off.

Governor Russell has not appointed a new railroad commissioner. Possibly His Excellency considers it preferable to first be out with the old love.

Through the courtesy of Congressman Kitchen we are in receipt of the Hon. Champ Clark's very amusing speech in congress on "The Country Editor."

When war begins all the whistles and bells in Chicago are to burst out in a martial peal. Mr. Armour and Mr. Leiter will doubtless raise up their voices and join in the peacemaking.

The government might be able to save several million dollars in pensions later by keeping careful tab of all the sutlers and camp followers in the little spat with Spain.

A tax on beer can be evaded by making the glasses smaller, but how can anyone dodge a tax on tobacco?—Philadelphia Ledger.

It is dead easy—diminish the size of the quid.

The London Times has latterly been inclined to side with Spain. Notwithstanding that fact its Havana correspondent has just been ordered out of Cuba. This will doubtless aid the Times to a clearer understanding of the joys involved in dealing with Spain.

The placid surface of the Hon. David Bennett Hill's silence broke into a thousand concentric rings as he rose to the surface and declared the people should have confidence in "our wise, prudent, patriotic president." Now let the Hon. Thomas B. Reed paragonize the stuffed prophet of Princeton's classic shades.

With a feeling of vandalism we pluck the following rare sun-burst from the fag end of three columns of jewels:

Away with fusion! Crucify it. Crucify it! Up with the banner of Populism. Hail the banner! Hail the banner! On to victory. Soldiers of freedom, comrades of the hosts of Populism, vow with me that it shall be done.—P. L. Gardner, of Cherryville, N. C., in Progressive Farmer.

We have before directed the attention of our readers to certain forked flashes of statesmanship from the sage of Cherryville. If there are any little anecdotes of cherry trees cut down or anything of that sort steps should be taken to preserve them while the sage is still with us. The indications are that the sage will not be with us long. No human organism can withstand so terrific a strain upon its lungs and thinker. Mark well the spot therefore that future pilgrims may have no difficulty in finding it. All readers are kindly invited to join with us in vowing that this shall be done.

In estimating war expenses care should be taken to include the cost of franking home to an absorbent constituency many portions of lachrymose congressional eloquence.

Mrs. Mary S. Wayt, 70 years old, committed suicide on Saturday night at her boarding house, 403 Macon street, Brooklyn, by inhaling gas through a rubber tube—New York Sun.

If a like fatality would only lie in wait for those who exhale gas through a rubber neck how much happier we should all be!

In the coming conflict with Spain, for a conflict now seems inevitable, the bearing of the negro soldiers will be watched with much interest. It will give an opportunity of testing for the first time the fighting qualities of the negro raised as a freeman and thoroughly drilled. The Twenty-fifth regiment, which is composed entirely of negroes, will be one of the first to reach the scene of actual hostilities. The men are said to make good appearance, being soldierly in bearing and thoroughly well drilled. Their value as fighters is at present quite as problematical as that of the modern battleship. Their action under fire will determine whether in case of hostilities the negro is a source of strength or of weakness to the nation.

General News in a Nutshell.

Mrs. Mahala Bentley of Bloomingdale, Ill., whose mother was with Daniel Boone at the siege of Boonesboro and whose mother's sister was the first white child born in Kentucky, has entered upon her second century of life. She is reported to be as active as most women of 20, and with the apparent vitality to carry her over to the next century, when she will have lived in three centuries.

Postmaster General and Mrs. Gary recently had their portraits painted by a young Italian artist whose gallantry led him into the mistake of making the lady appear younger than she really is. Mrs. Gary is a pretty and dainty little woman of fifty, but is eminently sensible. When she saw the portrait she said: "He left out all the lines in my face, but he left out the character, too."

As Queen Victoria's carriage was about to cross the suspension bridge over the pailion, at Nice, the other day a funeral procession came up. The Queen, instead of driving forward, gave orders to the coachman to follow the mourners at a walk. This show of respect for the dead met with immediate recognition, and made her very popular in the neighborhood.

G. L. Brown, of Dallas, Tex., has invented an air ship which he says will be worth millions and he promises that for the loan of modest sums of $50 each he "will pay back $1,000, $100, $2,000, $250 and $5,000." Just why some of the creditors should receive twenty times as much as others is not explained.

Not long ago the Iowa, Mo., Register published an article to the effect that in excavating for a cellar in that city a workman found an old tomahawk with the name of the famous Indian chief, Loof Lirpa, carved in the handle. Now, after all the papers of the state have copied the item, the Register asks them to spell the name of that chief backward.

An eminent Italian ornithologist says the owl's eyes have no muscles by which they can be moved, but that extraordinary flexibility in the muscles of the neck enable the owl to move his head with incredible rapidity in any direction.

The safe deposit vaults of some of the up-to-date trust companies have compartments especially designed for the reception of fur garments, fur mats, etc. They are kept in rooms the temperature of which is maintained at so low a point that destructive insects and their germs perish from the cold.

The city of Buenos Ayres, which is the New York of South America, has so much increased in population, nearly one million inhabitants now, that the Federal as well as the state governments have considered it necessary to provide the city of the Argentine Republic with an improved system of municipal police. Among other changes it was decided to give to that police a military organization, and to that effect the minister of war has furnished the police commissioners with eighty cases of Mauser guns, the use of which will be taught to the policemen of every precinct.

Some years ago an English duke owned an emu, which laid an egg during one of his absences from home. One of his servants at once telegraphed to him as follows: "The emu has laid an egg, and in the absence of your grace we have taken the largest goose we could find to hatch it."

Growth of Trade With Japan.

The Northern Pacific line of steamers to the Orient has been increased until five magnificent steamships are regularly employed, with freight left on the docks at every trip. This has been the condition for some time, and now it is found necessary to put on two special steamers to carry the overflow of regular freight and the large shipment of steel purchased in this country for Japanese railways.

In 1893 the exports of Japan to this country amounted to only 27,700,000 yen, which in 1895 reached 54,000,000 yen. Since that time our trade with Japan has increased still more rapidly, and the bulk of the commerce is done at Tacoma. Especially has our trade grown in cotton and manufactured iron, machinery and railway supplies.

An Authority Speaks.

There has been too much passing of the lie in Congress.—Philadelphia Record.

The lie is a convenient thing to pass, as nobody wants to keep it, but in parliamentary terminology there is no such phrase as "passing the lie." You pass the time of day; pass, with no object expressed, in poker, and so on. But in modern congresses and legislatures the lie is no longer "passed." It is "hurled," and with tremendous violence. The gentleman at whom it is hurled stops it cleverly and hurls it back. These technicalities may seem trivial, but it is well to be accurate. Never pass the lie. Hurl it. Otherwise how can the other man hurl it back?—N. Y. Sun.

Notice
At the annual sale of Registered Jersey Cattle from Oconeechee Farm, April 7, 1898, I bought the thoroughbred Jersey Bull No. 3, Romola's chief, 4425 A. J. C. C., sire Meridale Buller 31346. Dam Romola of Beverly 47860. Romola is one of the best Cows at Oconeechee farms. Her dam was imported. The sire, Meridale Buller is from dam Meridale coquette, 64535, whose record at two years old in one week was 17 pounds butter.
Her grand dam was Ida of St. Lambert, who made 30 pounds butter in one week and milked 67 pounds in one day. The grand sire of Meridale Buller is Ida's Rector of St. Lambert.
This is a great Bull, standing for years at the head of Miller Sibbels herd. Also carries the blood of Matilda 4th, 60 pounds milk in a day and 26 pounds butter in a week. Stoke Pogis and Stoke Pogis 3rd. Will stand at my stable near Finishing Mills.
J. W. LINDAU.

Let Banks Explain.

The headlines of the Charlotte Observer introducing an interesting piece of information reads thus:
"Launch of the Alabama will occur May 18th, and Miss Morgan will christen her. She is eighteen feet longer than the battleship Iowa." This is all correct, we suppose, but it does look like "Miss Morgan, she"
is wonderfully elongated. "Lingering sweetness long drawn out," possibly.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters.
This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other in-cant, but acts as a tonic and alterative.
It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions.
Electric Bitters is an excellent pur-gative and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need.

Graham, N. C., Nov. 23, 1898.
Mrs. Joe Person:—Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the wonderful cure your Remedy made on my little daughter, some eight years ago. She was afflicted with some blood impurity which resulted in boils and sores on her head, face and neck, which troubled her severely and continuously for 18 months, more or less. After trying different remedies for a long time without any permanent relief, a friend advised me to try your medicine. After a short use of it she began to improve and when she had taken about eighteen bottles the sores and boils were entirely healed, there has never been any return of them, and she seems now to be entirely well. I consider your Remedy one of the very best blood purifiers on the market.
Yours very truly,
J. H. WATSON.

SPAIN AS A SEA POWER.

Would Have But Little Show With
the United States.

If Spain should prove effective on the sea now, she would reverse her record for more than three hundred years.

Not since the battle of Lepanto, when joined with the Venetians and Genoese, she overcame the Turkish fleet, has Spain won a fight with any other nation at sea.

It has been three hundred and ten years since Francis Drake annihilated what the storm had left of the Invincible Armada. Nelson struck Spain another terrible blow when he met the combined Spanish and French fleets at Trafalgar. Since that time there have been several striking incidents of Spanish incompetency in naval warfare, the most notable being that which was shown in her expedition against Peru in 1866, on account of alleged mistreatment of some Spanish subjects.

The Spanish squadron on that expedition consisted of seven vessels, mounting twenty-seven guns, and to oppose it the Peruvians borrowed three craft from Chili, one a vessel carrying forty-two smooth bores, one a small one-gun monitor, and the third a diminutive Merrimac, carrying two guns. The result of the engagement was the utter discomfiture of the Spaniards.

In comparing the relative strength of our navy with Spain the difference between the men in the ships of the two nations is a big factor to be taken into account. As we have also an advantage in the number and power of ships, it will be seen that a naval engagement with Spain would have little show.—Atlanta Journal.

Footgear and Gloves.

Woman is largely judged by her extremities, by the way she dresses her feet and hands, and so she should have a care in selecting footgear and gloves, says a New York fashion writer. At no time are her feet so conspicuous as when in evening attire, unless she happens to be a member of the Rainy Day club.
Evening slippers are very smart at present. Two general styles prevail for home and full dress wear—the single strap or the double strap crossed and the laced low shoes. Black satin slippers elaborately embroidered in cut jet are very swell and make even the clumsiest foot look slim and dainty. Possessors of feet broader than or longer than four should, when possible, stick to a black evening slipper, for the light colors make large feet look larger.
Silver and gold buckles, jeweled but-tles and bugs, gold and silver embroideries, fluffy bows and rosettes all look too beautiful for anything in the shoe man's window, but they are intended for little feet. Women with big feet can apply philosophy to evening slippers as well as to everything else in life.
For everything you miss you gain something else, and the gain in this case is immediate, for it is in dollars and cents.
All of these gimcracks on slippers make them just that much more expensive.
The proper thing to wear with ball gowns and other elaborate frocks is a slipper made from the piece of the gown worn unless it happens to be a striped or flowered brocade. Then a slipper made of the prevailing tint should be worn. Bronze slippers are much used for home wear again, and they are pretly and inexpensive too. What woman does not remember her childish joy over her first pair of bronze slippers?

INVENTOR OF LEAD PIPE.

First Suggested by Robert Seydell of Pennsylvania in 1830.

There was born in Milton, Pa., in 1800 a man of wonderful genius, it is said. His name was Robert Seydell, and he died in 1847. Four children survive, two of whom reside here—a son, Jacob Seydell, and a daughter, Mrs. Gray.

Mr. Seydell was a coppersmith and was almost continuously working out some device connected with the machinery in his factory. To him, it is related by some of the oldest citizens of this place, belongs the discovery of the process of making lead pipe, and, like many other inventors, the idea of making the same was stolen from him and further developed to its present form of manufacture.

It was in the latter part of the thirties that the idea suggested itself to him, and the following is the way he wrought it out: He first took a slug, or casting of lead, placing it on a mandrel, or rod of steel, about 18 feet long and an inch in diameter. The mandrel was highly polished, and upon this he drew or rolled out the lead to the full length of the rod, thus giving him an inch bore, and the material was rolled, it is said, to a one-fourth inch, making a total diameter 1 1/4 inches for the pipe.
After completing several sections of the length of the mandrel he soldered them together, making the pipe of whatever length he desired.

He put it to practical use by fastening it to pump heads, and also running it from springs to connect watering troughs and springhouses in the country round about here. Being greatly pleased with his discovery and receiving the most flattering of comments from his friends and neighbors in this section, he concluded to make his invention more widely known, and hence made a visit to Philadelphia, taking his device with him.

At the Franklin institute in that city he gave his first exhibition to quite a number of inventors, artisans and mechanics. As it is now related, every one who witnessed it was more than delighted, and so expressed himself in his immediate presence. It was not long that he was allowed to remain in a condition of supreme happiness over his invention, for a short time after he made a disclosure of his discovery, and while yet in Philadelphia, he found out that by the persons to whom he had given an exhibition of the process of making lead pipe his idea had been used and improved upon.—Philadelphia Press.

SPEAKING PASSING SHIPS.

New Efforts to Revive Old Time Courtsies at Sea.

The fine old custom of speaking passing ships is rapidly dying out among the skippers of today, and the general opinion seems to be that the modern master is, as a rule, too easy going to bother about anything of the sort.
Colonel Hozier, the secretary of Lloyds, considers that a deal of trouble and anxiety would often be avoided if captains would but take the trouble to speak ships within reading distance of their signals. In many instances anxiety with respect to overdue vessels would be allayed, and, furthermore, there would continually be news for the friends of masters and for the hundreds of thousands of others who are interested in the great merchant marine of this country.

Chatting the matter over, Captain Froud, the secretary of the Shipmasters' society, said: "The practice of speaking each other at sea and reporting at every opportunity is, I am sorry to say, dying out among the captains of the present day. I suppose they are indifferent, or careless, and do not consider it worth the trouble of hoisting the signals and making out the other fellow's. It is a very great pity that an exceedingly useful custom should be neglected, and I am glad to learn that Colonel Hozier is doing his utmost to induce masters to speak other ships and to report whenever it is possible.

"I am convinced that if captains can be persuaded to take the trouble to do this much good service will be rendered to the public generally.—This society is doing its utmost to get masters to revive the practice."
Captain Froud's appeal was strengthened by the picturesque evidence of an old time skipper, who admitted that speaking and signaling had been almost entirely neglected of late years. "When I first went to sea," he said, "it was the invariable custom to exchange names and destinations and sometimes reckonings with passing ships, but nowadays captains don't bother. Sometimes a skipper is short handed and he won't take even one man from his work, but mostly he doesn't bother himself about the thing at all. That's my experience, and I've been at the game a week or two."—London Mail.

His Resources.

Judge Ermon tells a good story about a man he was questioning as to his being good to go on a $600 bond.
"What property have you to the amount of $600?" asked the judge.
"I have $200 in a building association," replied the witness.
"Well, and what more?"
"I have stock in trade to the amount of $800."
"Go on."
"I have household furniture worth $900."
"Well, we still want $10."
"I have your note, judge, for that amount, which you gave me seven years ago at College Corner."

Notes of The Prowler

"I see," said the Prowler, as he came into the office this morning and placed his feet on the table, "that the negroes are going to have a debate about whether or not they should belong to the republican party. The idea of a negro arguing against the republican party strikes me as being rather crude."

"In one sense the negroes of the south are in just as effectual bondage as that race was in prior to the struggle of 1861-'65. They boast of being free when they are not free. The right of exercising their freedom at the ballot box, which is the highest and proudest of freemen, does not belong to them but is vested in the white leaders of the republican party. The masters use their slaves now to boost themselves into office just as effectually as did the old masters use their Samboes and Dinahs to fill their cribs with corn and their old plantation gins with cotton."

"Occasionally under the old regime a negro would run away and when caught he was severely chastised. So it is under the new, when a negro votes the democratic ticket he commits unpardonable sin and in some instances he is subjected to as cruel treatment as in the old days, inflicted, not by the hand of the master, but by the other slaves, who thus show their willingness to be bound by stronger chains than when they were only required to plow and hoe and reap and mow."

"But now I see the negroes are actually going to debate the question of their freedom at the ballot box. Is it possible that the yoke of bondage is gall to any of them? Is it possible, that after 33 years the scales are falling off their eyes and they begin to realize that they are yet in bondage and have not received as much pay for their servitude as their daddies and mummies did when they occupied the little cabin on the old plantation. "After all the negro has not yet made such rapid advancement, for after a lapse of over thirty years he has not learned how to be free or to exercise his rights of freedom."

The Prowler then went out to see if his hen roost was bothered last night.

We have a word to say to the merchants.

You work hard all day, think, plan, devise, buy and sell goods, employ clerks and for what?

Primarily that you may get money.

Is it a very wise plan that these hard earned dollars shall be dumped in a cash drawer to be paid out perhaps without any record's being made.

We have in use a Cash Recorder that beats any Cash "Register" that we have ever seen. We do not claim that it will prevent your being the victim of dishonesty, but it certainly reduces the chance for errors to a minimum.

It greatly facilitates the keeping of the cash account. A bookkeeper who cannot "keep his cash straight" with the aid of this machine should not be allowed to handle cash.

It will pay for itself in a month, in time, temper, wear and tear of the nerves and in actual money.

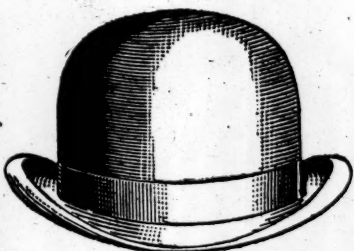

We are in a position to give you an inside price on it.
